On the occasion of its reopening in the center of the Parisian capital in a hybrid space of 100m², La La Lande Gallery is making a state of the situation with a first collective exhibition that brings together 11 artists from the MENA zone with poetic and political works.

For common point, there is the wandering, the exile, the quest. Questions and questioning of identities, genres, norms, departures. There are in addition narrative figurations and a societal art. Musicalities in waves which swing between the deformed or symmetrical forms.
